Designed for new and emerging leaders, managers and talent developers across healthcare and other industries, the #IncludeMe curriculum is a dynamic presentation aimed at career development and enhancement. Tedx Speaker Jody McPhearson will guide attendees through a high-energy presentation that will provide skills and tactics to adapt messaging and presence to reveal leadership abilities, identify and navigate implicit biases when dealing with co-workers from different generations, and provide tips for boosting confidence in asking for new opportunities. In addition to the one-hour session, there will be a networking reception to include hosted drinks and appetizers.
